

A&B Electric Testimonial

Founded in 1974, A&B Electric is an electrical contractor serving commercial and industrial customers throughout the Southeastern US, including customers in the textile, chemical, pulp and paper, utilities, automotive and gaming industries.

- I approached LifeSaver because our business was seeing 2 to 3 fender benders each month and growing. Given our society's addiction to the phone, I could see that our company needed to do something fast or the problem could get much worse.
- LifeSaver was recommended to me by another fleet operator who had significantly lowered their at-fault collisions by using LifeSaver. This was an easy decision for me to get started, given how simple it was to launch a free trial.
- The result was that we have seen ZERO fender benders ever since we deployed LifeSaver at the beginning of this year.
- One thing I really liked was their around-the-clock access and level of responsiveness to my questions.
- I found the experience smooth from the very beginning. Six months later, it's clear to me that I made the right decision.
- I would recommend LifeSaver to any fleet operator who is looking to enforce their cell phone driving policy, keep their drivers safe and lower their auto insurance.
